

Paper Problems?

We can help

The reason lost documents cost $20 or more apiece is not the paper, but the hit on efficiency. Gartner says that “on average, professionals spend 50% of their time looking for information.” To solve this problem, HP and Liberty Information Management Solutions have partnered to offer content management solutions that reduce costs by automating tasks and improving productivity. With a few simple keystrokes, information is captured, managed and shared throughout your organization. No more lost documents, no more inefficiency, no more money floating away.
